Alisse Caton joined LVA Urban Design Studio, LLC as an Associate Planner in 2015. She graduated with honors from Northern Arizona University with a Bachelor of Science in Urban Planning and with a Master of Science in Applied Geospatial Sciences. She also spent six months in Australia, where she studied Urban Planning at the University of South Australia. During her time as a student, Alisse received “Best Student Planning Project in 2013” from The Arizona Planning Association.

Alisse first began her professional career at the City of Flagstaff where she interned for the Community Development and Sustainability Departments. There she primarily assisted in the update and outreach of the City’s 2030 Regional Plan and 2011 Zoning Ordinance. She was also engaged in city wide renewable energy practices and policies. After graduating, she joined a local start up solar company as a project manager; she managed residential and commercial solar projects throughout the Northern Arizona and Southern California regions.

In August of 2015, Alisse settled in at LVA working as a Planner. Her duties include researching municipal regulations and requirements, assisting in design of site plans, writing narratives to communicate the future development of sites, assisting in the preparation of various entitlement applications, and attending public meetings and hearings associated with current projects.

In her spare time, Alisse can be found hiking a new mountain, traveling the world or sampling a new dish.
